

winecamp

technology + nonprofits + culture

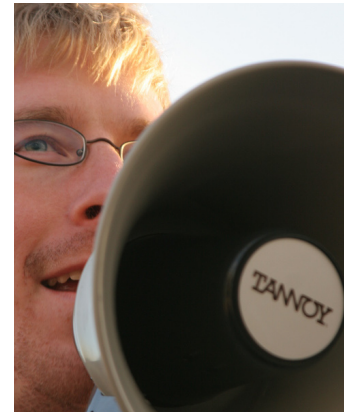

may 26 - 28, 2006 • calaveras county, california

huh?

What is WineCamp?

WineCamp is an ad-hoc un-conference, set in wine country. It is born from the desire for people to share and learn in an open environment.

There are no 'attendees' at WineCamp, only participants. Everyone at WineCamp sets the agenda, presents, leads or gets involved in discussions and creates together.

What can you expect to get out of WineCamp?

nonprofits

- present projects you are working on to a new audience
- a collaborative environment for brainstorming technology solutions
- access to developers wanting to donate their time to this collaboration
- learn how to leverage Web2.0 technologies for your projects

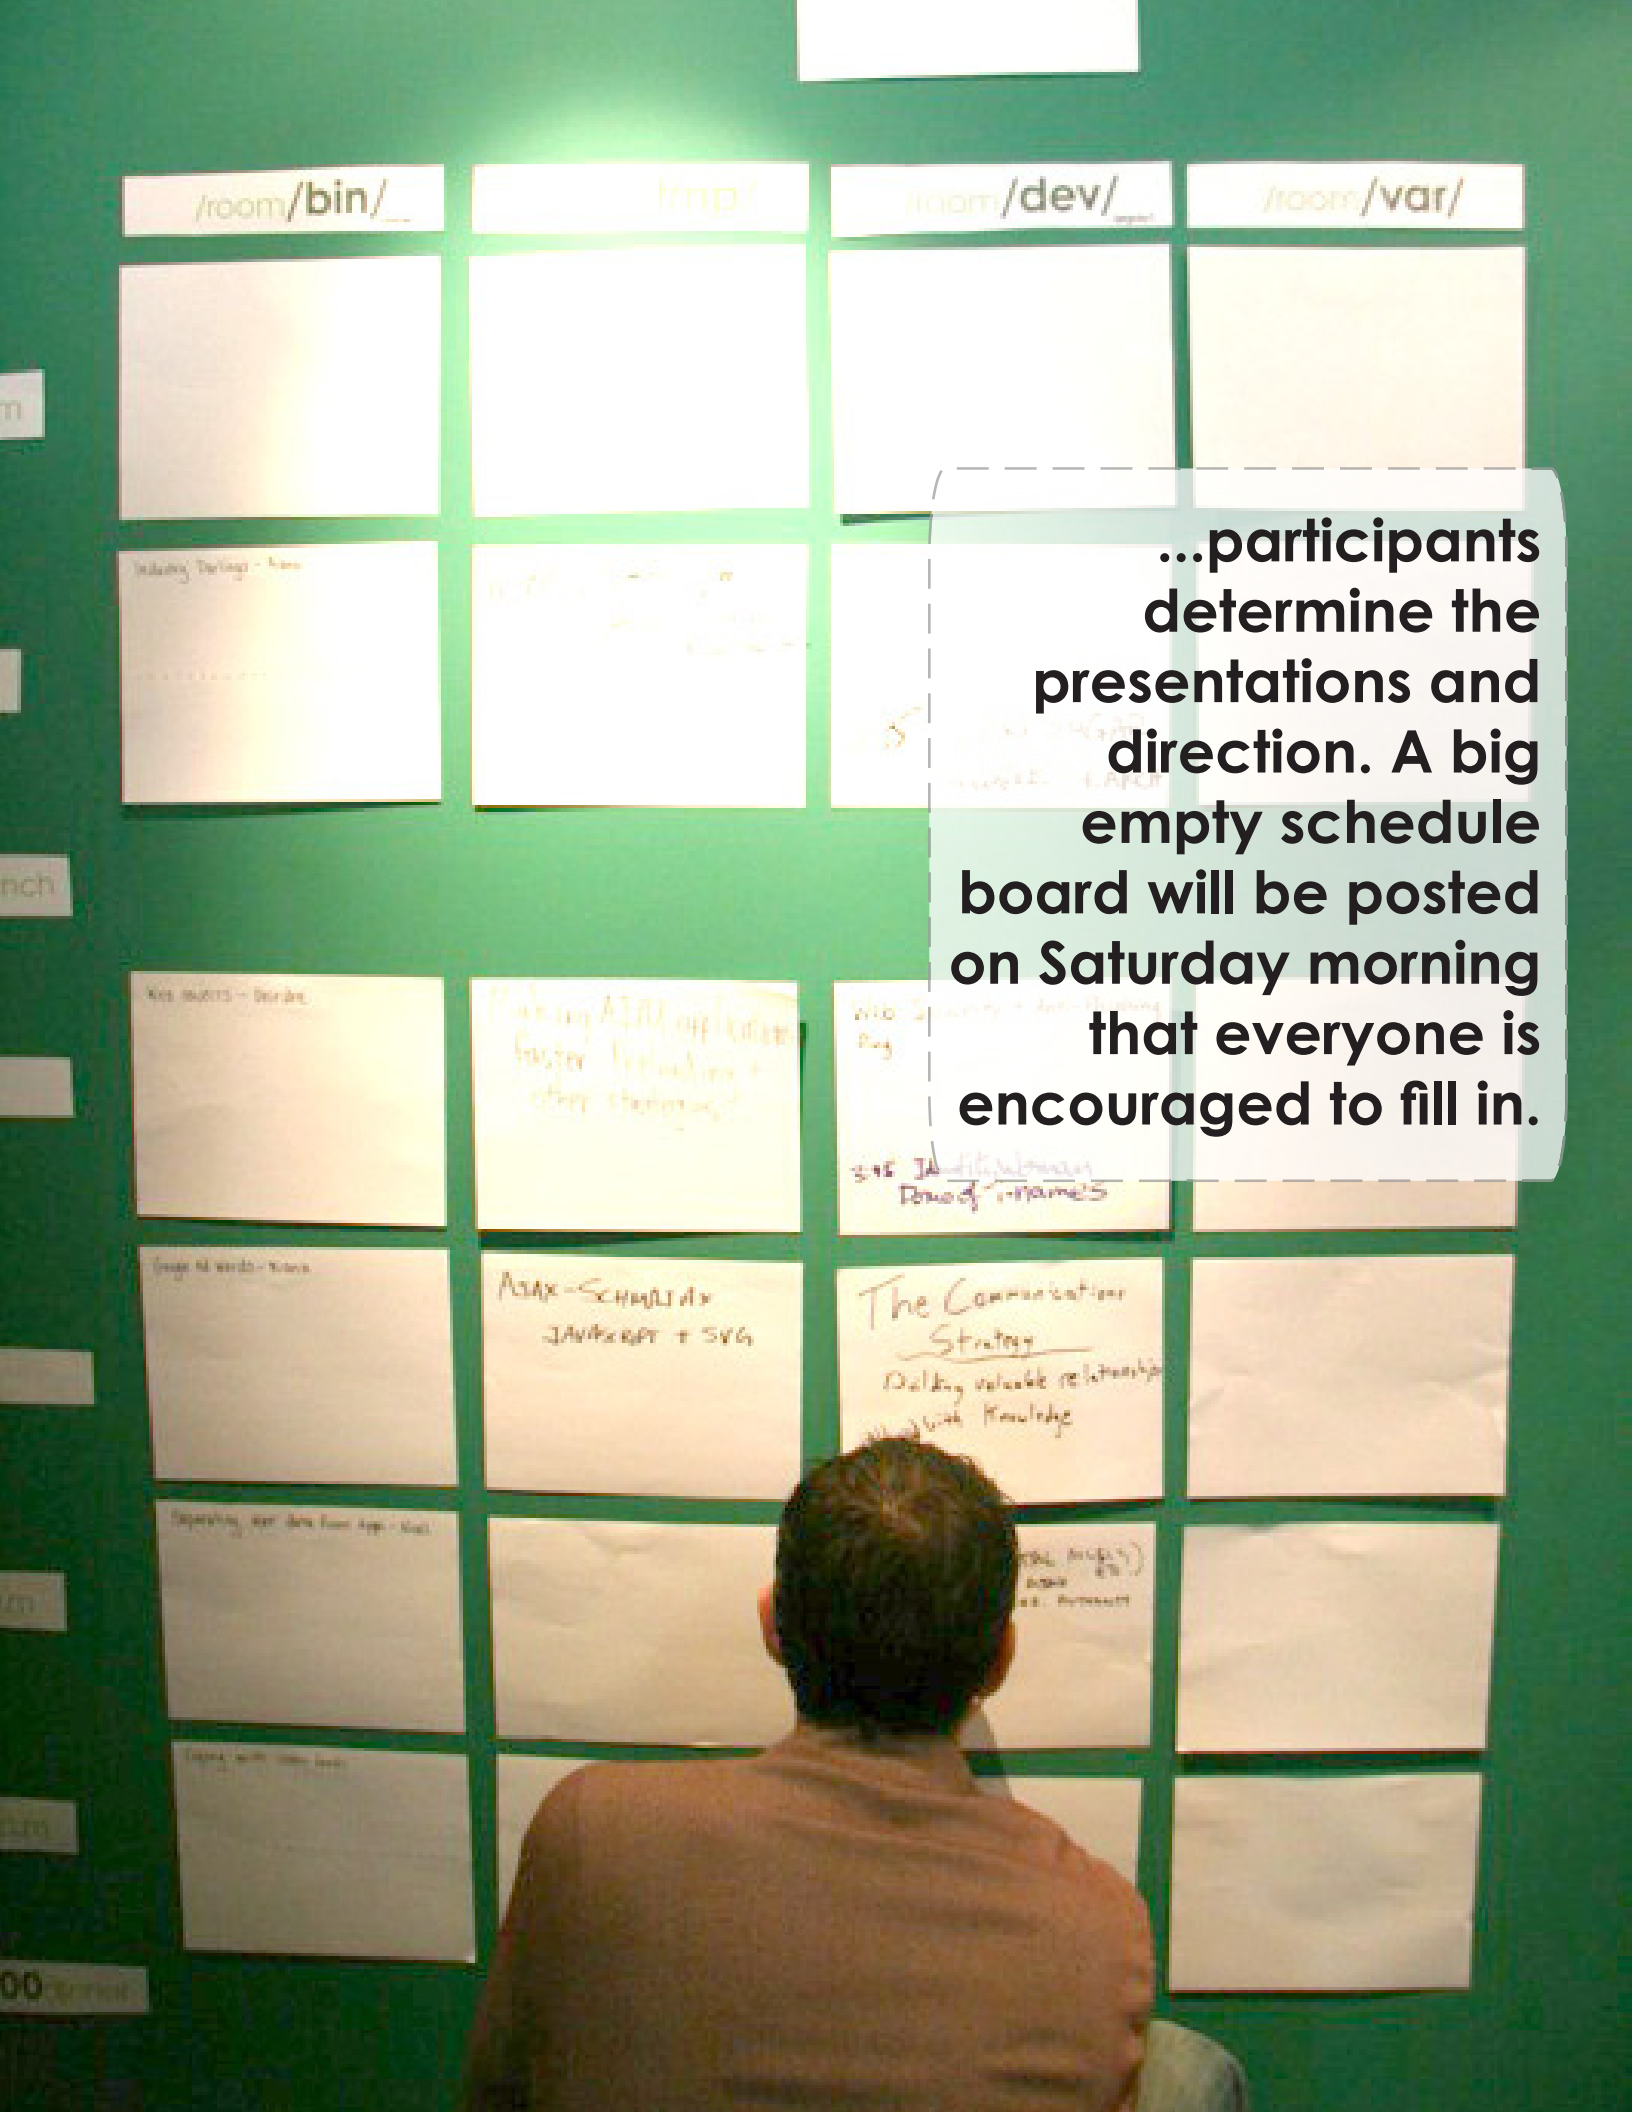

developers

- get to strut your stuff to your peers and a wider audience
- a collaborative environment for brainstorming technology solutions
- an overview of non-profits in need of your talents to help them change the world
- a captive audience to dazzle with your new fangled Web 2.0 app who can spread the word further for you

everyone

- a fantastic get-away from the city with your peers and interesting, new people
- a weekend with brilliant people and enthralling conversations
- free wine tasting
- contribute to changing the world
- camping out in a vineyard (discounted accommodations also available)
- an amazing experience

We hope that the relationships that are formed and the projects that are started at WineCamp will continue long past the weekend for everyone!

...participants determine the presentations and direction. A big empty schedule board will be posted on Saturday morning that everyone is encouraged to fill in.

Calaveras County Map

Calaveras Visitors Bureau

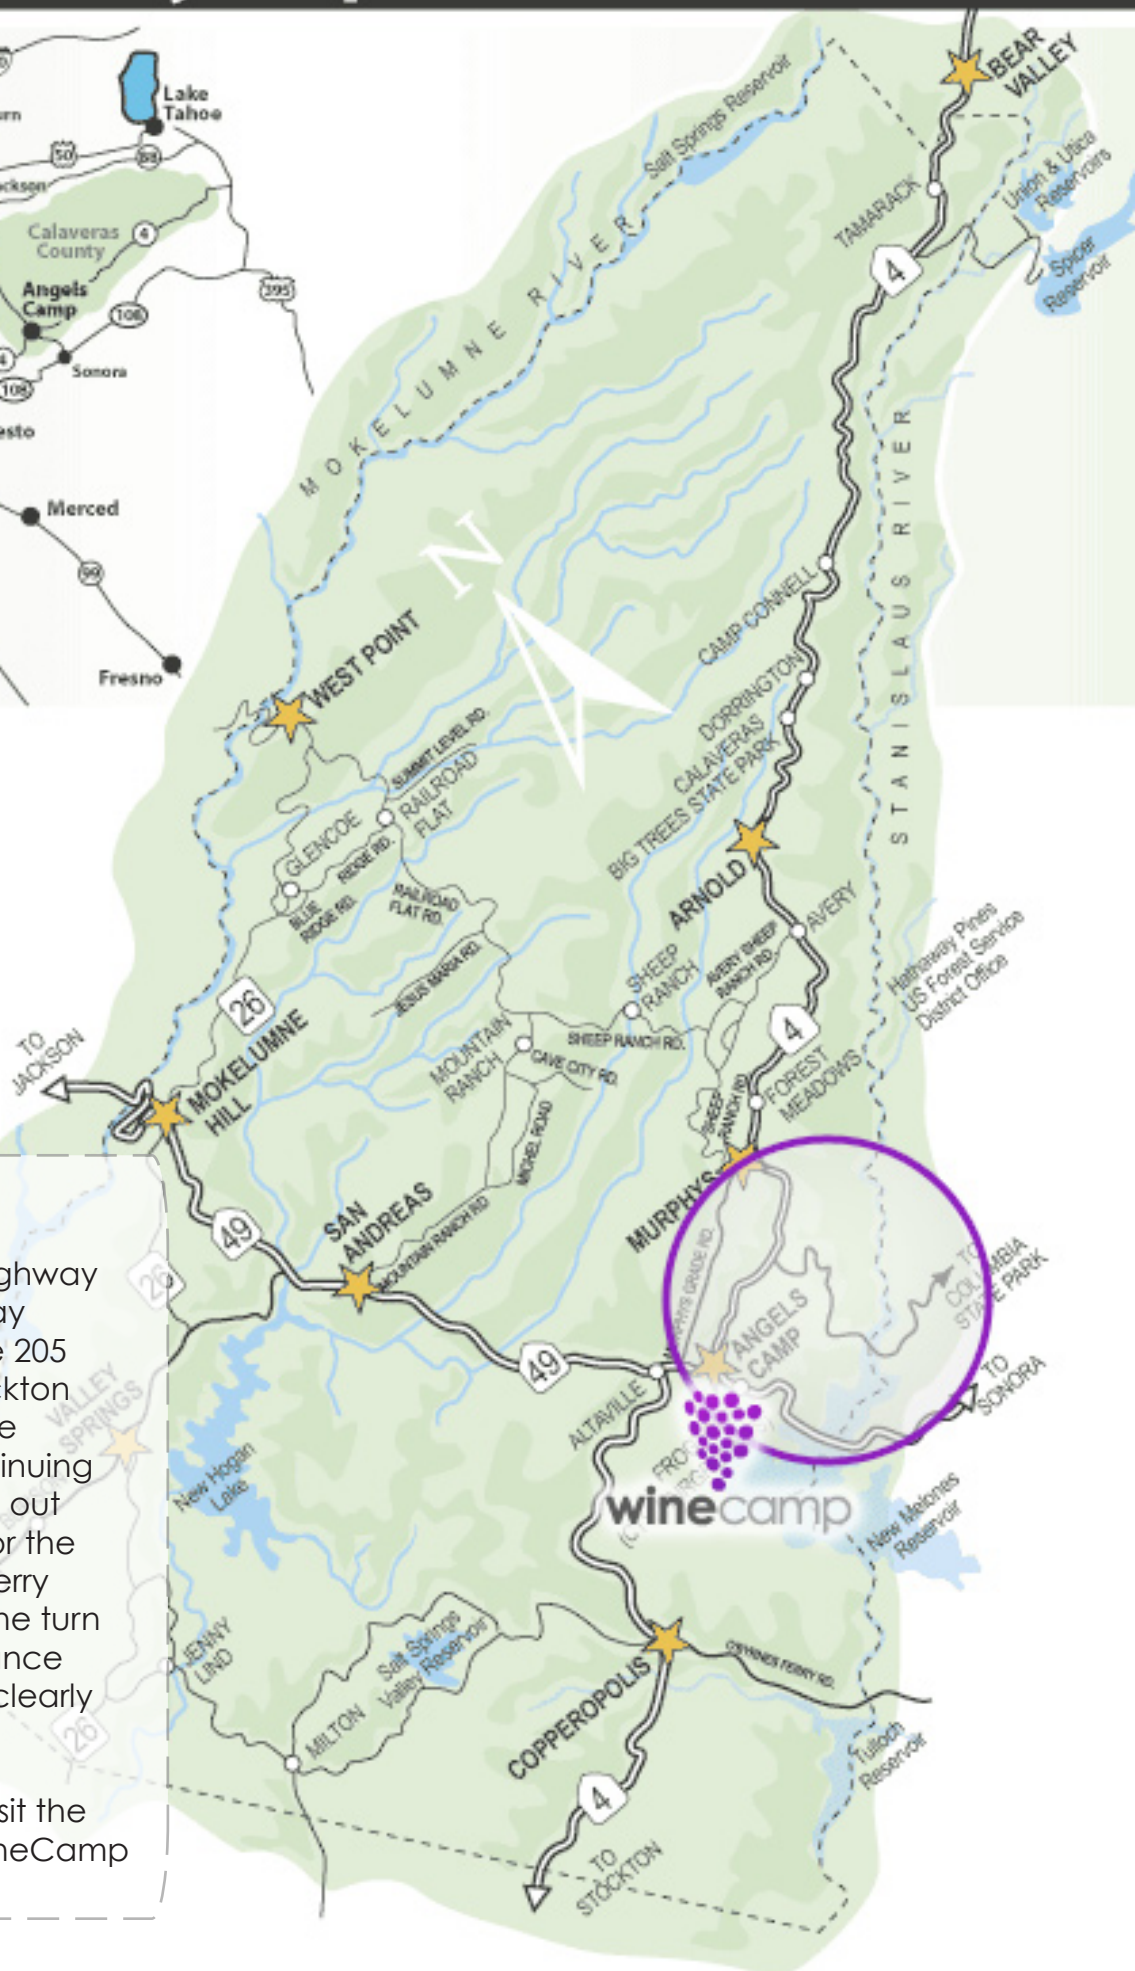

Post Office Box 637
1192 South Main St.
Angels Camp, CA 95222

Telephone: 209-736-0049
Toll-free: 1-800-225-3764

How to get there:

From San Francisco - Take Highway 280 North. Turn off on Highway 580 east to Tracy, then to the 205 east, then to 99 north to Stockton (then Highway 4 again). Drive through Angel's Camp, continuing on Highway 4. Almost 4 miles out of town, you will see a sign for the Moaning Cavern (Parrott's Ferry Road). Take that road past the turn off for the caverns. The entrance to the vineyard road will be clearly marked for you to enter.

For additional information, visit the wiki: <http://barcamp.org/WineCamp> details...details...

When is WineCamp?

May 26-28, 2006

SCHEDULE-ish

Friday Night

Kick-off party [location TBA] - 7 pm - 12 am

Saturday

@Ferriere Vineyard

10 am - 6 pm - Offline presentations and brainstorming (breaks throughout)

7 pm - 12 am - Dinner, socializing, hacking, project team formation, etc.

Sunday

9 am - 11 am - Griddle-style breakfast at the Ferriere Vineyard

12 noon - 6 pm - Projects get underway [location TBA]

“ (Traditional conferences are) impersonal, controlling, somewhat sterile by comparison with the energy of BarCamp. I can't help thinking that Unconference is the model more and more of us will adopt for the transfer of knowledge. ”

— Simon Phipps and Sun CTO, Barcamper

There are two (2) options for free registration:

1.

Go to the BarCamp wiki at:

<http://barcamp.org/WineCamp>

and enter your name and information on the WineCamp page.

2.

Fill out the following form and mail it to:

WineCamp Calaveras
c/o BarCamp
418 Clayton Street
San Francisco, CA 94117

registration

Name: _____

Company: _____

Phone: _____

Email: _____

Website: _____

I'd like to present on the following subject: _____

WineCamp is a free event that relies on the generosity of donors to make it accessible for all.

☐ Yes! I'd like to contribute! _____
(time, stuff, $$ - max $300 - or other)